WALLSBURG BIOGRAPHIES

WILLIAM ARTHUR WHITING AND CLARA ELIZABETH PARCELL

William Arthur Whiting was born at Mapleton, Utah, on January 31, 1884, to Arthur Cox Whiting and Nancy Mellissa Lee Master. He came to Wallburg with his parents when a young man. Here he met Clara Elizabeth Parcell, daughter of John Lewis Parcell and Martha Ann Clifton, and they were married in the Salt Lake Temple on November 15, 1905. She was born December 19, 1885, at Wallburg, and died July 1, 1950, at Springville. He died July 8, 1951, at Springville, and both were buried in Provo Cemetery.

William and Clara acquired a small farm and home. Hardships were many and there was much work for every member of the growing family. She worked in the fields thinning beets, and would drag her little boys along in a box. William was known for his wonderful, crisp cabbage. The family continued to grow until there were four boys and three girls. William was a bass singer and helped with music in the ward.

After skimping and going through hardships, the farm was paid for. "This farm was the pride of the whole family, and it was instilled in all the family that we should try with all our might to enhance and beautify and make better the portion of this earth we were privileged to occupy and take care of. Our home and surroundings were always a thing of beauty and joy to us."

When the children were grown and gone, the farm became too much for William's strength, and he and Clara moved to Springville in 1946 to help their son Leland with his service station and motel.

Their children: Clifton W. Whiting, Leland Ralph, Fred Arthur, Wanda, Ben Lewis, Dawna, Lorene and Loa. 989

THOMAS WILSON AND LOUISA ELIZABETH HARDY

Thomas Wilson was born in Newberry, Berkshire, England, March 1, 1857, son of Joseph Wilson and Louisa Hancock. He died March 13, 1940, at Salt Lake City. He married Louisa Elizabeth Hardy, who was born in Ogden, Utah, December 25, 1857, daughter of Lewis Ogea Hardy and Clarinda Jane Doffelmeyre, on April 29, 1878, at Beaver, Utah. Louisa died December 17, 1948, at Keetley, Wasatch County, Utah, at the home of her daughter, Lettie Lenzi.

Tom and Louisa moved to Wallsburg about 1885. Their daughter Lettie (Mrs. Roy Lenzi) remembers the log schoolhouse by Spring Creek, later a brick schoolhouse, where there was more room. Some teachers she remembers were Alfred Duke, Owen Hilton, John Bond from Heber, and George Garff from Draper, Utah. She and her sisters loved to watch "Aunt Emmie Wall," wife of William Wall, weave carpets from the strips they had cut and sewed.

The Wilsons were active in the LDS Church and Mrs. Wilson was a social worker in the county.

In 1892 the family moved to Colorado, where Mr. Wilson was foreman of a large cattle ranch, cattle being his chief interest. Then they returned to Wallsburg, where they were in partnership with Fred Buell. Mr. Wilson owned and operated a store. Next they moved to Provo, where the three older girls attended the Brigham Young Academy.

Mr. Wilson sold the home and business in Wallsburg to Frank Allred and in 1900 moved to Park City. From there, on advice of his doctor, they moved to Salt Lake in 1921.

Children: Amelia Jane, Lettie May, Sarah Elizabeth and Hildred.
